Support your goals with a plan that supports you

Deductible plans generally offer lower monthly premiums in exchange for higher out-of-pocket payments for covered services.

With deductible plans, you pay full charge for most covered services until your expenses meet an annual medical deductible. Then you can pay a copayment or coinsurance. When your deductible and cost-sharing payments reach your out-of-pocket maximum (OOPM), you won't have to pay anything for covered services for the rest of the year.

A choice of plans

We offer different types of deductible plans to help you find the right one for your needs.

- Some of our deductible plans offer both individual and family coverage. You can enroll just yourself—or your entire family.
- Other deductible plans offer individual coverage only. A family can be covered by these plans, but each family member must apply separately. To help lower premiums, these plans do not offer maternity benefits and may have higher deductibles, copayments, and coinsurance.

Preventive services not subject to deductible

No matter which plan you choose, you can receive many preventive care services for a copayment before you meet your deductible. That means you can pay a copay from the first day of coverage for services such as annual checkups and preventive screenings. And some services, such as immunizations, are available at no charge.

Meet the Romeros

Juan and Nancy Romero have a daughter, Anna, age 11.¹ They are starting their own business and need health care coverage. They choose the Deductible 30/1500 plan.

- The deductible: In deductible plans with family coverage, each family member can meet the deductible in two ways. Each can pay full charge for covered services until his or her separate expenses meet the $1,500 individual deductible. Or, the family's combined out-of-pocket expenses can meet the $3,000 family deductible.
- Not subject to the deductible: The Romeros are happy to learn that many services are not subject to the deductible. So, from the first day of coverage, they can pay a $30 copay for the services they use most, such as doctor's office visits, urgent care visits, and most preventive care.
- Primary care visits: Each member of the Romero family gets an annual checkup for a $30 copay. And since the medical office nearest their home has doctors' offices, lab, X-ray, and pharmacy under one roof, they can see the doctor, get lab tests, and pick up their prescriptions in one stop.

The family signs up for My Health Manager, a secure site on kp.org that enables them to manage most of their health care needs online. When Nancy needs a list of Anna's immunizations for school, she downloads it on her home computer. And when the family needs their annual checkups, they request their appointments online.

The Romeros want to take care of their health, so they take full advantage of Healthy Living classes offered at their local medical offices.² Plus, both Juan and Nancy sign up for HealthMedia® Succeed™, an online wellness program that evaluates their health and helps them create a self-improvement program.³

² Classes vary by location. Some classes may charge a fee.

Meet Jason Choi

Jason just graduated from college and is freelancing while he looks for his dream job.¹ He's active and healthy and plans to stay that way. He wants an affordable health care plan that covers the big stuff—just in case. He chooses the Deductible 50/5000 NM, a deductible plan with a $5,000 deductible and a $50 copay for preventive care. The premium is low because there's no coverage for dependents, maternity care, or prescription medications—services Jason isn't interested in anyway.

Here's how Jason's plan works over the year.

- Preventive care: Because preventive care is not subject to the deductible, Jason pays a $50 copay for his routine physical exam without having to meet the deductible. His flu shot is no charge.

Jason has an accident that requires him to have surgery.

- Meeting the deductible: Since Jason has a $5,000 medical deductible, he pays full charges out of pocket until his covered medical expenses total $5,000.
- Paying coinsurance: After Jason meets his deductible, he pays a copay or 30 percent coinsurance for subsequent covered medical expenses.
- How the out-of-pocket maximum works: The OOPM for Jason's plan is $7,500. The $5,000 that Jason pays to meet his deductible, plus $2,500 of copayment and coinsurance payments, meet his OOPM of $7,500. Now Jason will not have to pay anything for covered services for the rest of the year.

Understanding deductibles and OOPMs

Deductibles

Under a deductible plan, many covered services are subject to the deductible—the set amount for which you pay full charge in a calendar year.

This means you'll pay full charge for many services until you reach your deductible. Of course, an exception to the deductible requirement is preventive care, such as a routine physical exam. For preventive care, you'll pay a copay, even if you have not met your deductible.

OOPMs

The out-of-pocket maximum, or OOPM, is the maximum amount you would have to pay out of pocket for certain services in a calendar year. Your deductible, coinsurance, and copayments all contribute toward your OOPM. If you meet your OOPM, you will not be required to pay anything out of pocket for certain services for the remainder of the calendar year.
