Critical Illness Health Insurance

American General Life Companies
Did You Know ...

The Risk of Survival is a Reality

- About 5.8 million stroke survivors are alive today, many of them with permanent stroke-related disabilities\(^1\)
- The average male has a 16% chance of developing leukemia before the age of 40\(^2\)
- In 2008, about 1.2 million Americans suffered a heart attack — and nearly 62% survived\(^1\)
- In 2008, 1.4 million Americans were expected to be diagnosed with cancer — and 64% were expected to survive at least five years\(^2,3\)

The Cost of Surviving

- In 2005, cardiovascular disease cost Americans $393.5 billion — the equivalent of $1,327 for each man, woman and child in the country\(^1,4\)
- About 50% of bankruptcies are medically related\(^5\)
- In 2004, the costs surrounding cancer averaged $29,805 per patient.\(^4\)

George, 31, attorney
Leukemia
New homeowner

When George and his wife Sandra purchased their dream house, they wanted to make sure it would be a place to call home for many years to come. While they were applying for life insurance to help cover the mortgage if either of them passed away, their agent also suggested critical illness insurance, which could help protect their home in case of a costly health crisis. They each purchased a CriticalCare Plus policy with a 30-year coverage period — and three years later, when George was diagnosed with leukemia, their prudent decision paid off. His policy delivered a single-payment benefit of $125,000, which helped them address all out-of-pocket treatment costs and compensate for lost income as they continued to meet their mortgage payments. Thankfully, George recovered from the illness, and he and Sandra were able to look forward to many more years in the home of their dreams.

The risk of developing a critical illness at any age is real. So are the benefits of CriticalCare Plus insurance. They can provide the immediate cash you need, to use any way you like.

After Allison and her husband divorced, her first priority was ensuring a bright future for her 11-year-old son Jeremy, who had aspirations to become an architect. Month after month, Allison diligently set aside funds to pay for her son’s education, often sacrificing her own needs to help his dream come true. She also purchased a CriticalCare Plus policy with a 10-year coverage period to ensure that if she were ever faced with a critical illness, her son’s college savings would be protected. Several years later when Allison suffered a stroke, the major medical coverage provided by her employer covered most expenses, but others — such as adaptations to their home to help her get around — had to be paid out-of-pocket. Fortunately, the $75,000 benefit from her CriticalCare Plus policy helped her address these expenses without tapping into her savings. Allison’s recovery was slow and arduous, but she was able to watch her son follow his ambitions and enter the college of his choice — without financial worries.

Help to Cover the Costs

Being diagnosed with a critical illness can generate costs far beyond medical expenses — costs that may or may not be covered by your traditional health plan. Critical illness insurance can help cover the costs associated with a critical illness diagnosis, which may help leave your retirement and family savings intact.

Upon the birth of her second daughter, Wendy left her job as a nurse at a local hospital to be a full-time mom. The family was able to manage on her husband’s income alone; however, they did have to make some adjustments in their lifestyle and weren’t able to build up any savings. With no outside income, Wendy was ineligible for individual disability insurance; fortunately, she was able to purchase an CriticalCare Plus policy. When Wendy was diagnosed with breast cancer six years later, the policy’s single-payment benefit not only enabled her to arrange for day-care for her daughters, but also to fly her mother in from another city to help around the house. Thanks to CriticalCare Plus, Wendy was able to continue taking care of her family even as she focused on her own recovery.

As a successful orthopedic surgeon, Joan enjoyed a comfortable six-figure income — and with two kids at home and two in college, she needed every penny. To protect her family’s lifestyle if she ever became disabled, she purchased disability coverage with a six month elimination period; regretfully, even if she became disabled and qualified for benefits under her disability policy, the monthly benefits would not start for six months. To help cover the risk of the six month gap, Joan also bought a $250,000 CriticalCare Plus policy. Two years later, she suffered kidney failure, which left her unable to work for eight months. Fortunately, the benefit from her CriticalCare Plus policy enabled her to continue meeting financial obligations without sacrificing her family’s way of life before Joan started receiving the disability benefits.

Limitations and Exclusions

Benefits payable are subject to all terms, conditions and exclusions of the policy. Please review the policy and applicable rider forms for detail on all limitations and exclusions. Limitations and exclusions include no benefits being payable for or on account of:

- A pre-existing condition unless the critical illness commences after the policy has been in force for two years from the effective date or most recent reinstatement date. Pre-existing conditions are subject to the Incontestable Provision.
- Medically related illnesses that occur within the required 180 day waiting period after a critical illness claim\(^{13}\)
- A critical illness occurring during the first 30 days of coverage, or the first 90 days of coverage for invasive or in situ cancer. However, an insured child born after the effective date of this policy or any subsequent reinstatement will be covered from birth for the critical illnesses stated in the policy schedule.
- The insured’s suicide or any attempt at suicide or intentionally self-inflicted injury or sickness, or any attempted intentionally self-inflicted injury or sickness, while sane or insane
- The insured person being under the influence of an excitant, depressant, hallucinogen, narcotic, or any other drug or intoxicant including those prescribed by a Physician that are misused by the insured person
- The insured’s commission of or attempt to commit an assault or felony
- The insured’s engagement in an illegal activity or occupation
- The insured’s voluntary participation in any riot or civil insurrection
- Any illness, loss or condition specifically excluded from the definition of any critical illness
- War or any act of war, whether declared or not
- Balloon angioplasty, laser relief of an obstruction, and or other intra-arterial procedure
- Practicing or participating in any semi-professional or professional competitive athletic contest for which compensation or remuneration is paid or received

Rick had always loved to cook, and after years of coaxing from family and friends, he left his corporate job to open a fashionable downtown bistro. Committed to “doing it right,” Rick took out several loans to ensure his kitchen was well-equipped and his dining room elegantly decorated. At the same time, he also purchased a CriticalCare Plus policy with a 20-year coverage period to protect his investment even if a critical illness took him away from his duties. Two years after opening his doors, Rick suffered a heart attack. Unable to work for four months, he was grateful for the $200,000 benefit from his CriticalCare Plus policy, which not only enabled him to hire the extra help he needed, but also helped him continue his loan payments while his business adapted to the disruption. Fortunately, Rick made a full recovery and was soon back at the restaurant on a daily basis — and business was better than ever.
